

Topic 4: Basic Structure of an HTML Document

Overview

This lesson explains the basic structure of an HTML document and why each part is important.

HTML Document Structure

An HTML document is made up of , html, head, and body tags.

Head and Body

The head contains information about the page, while the body contains visible content.

Conclusion

Understanding structure helps learners create correct and readable web pages.